Self Assessment and Personal Accountability Contract

Design and Drafting is a course that will allow you to learn how to communicate using a wide variety of graphic methods. The ability to design, draw and draft will enable you to pursue many hobbies or vocations, plus give you an appreciation of all the technical drawings we see each day.

The major areas covered in this course include:

- Sketching
- Pictorial Drawing
- Technical Working Drawings
- Computer Aided Drawings
- Architectural Drawings
- Blueprint Literacy

This course involves both manual and computer assisted drawing methods. The intention is that all become aware and proficient with manual drawing methods, and then branch into CADD/Vectorworks. This course presents both as being fundamentally dependant upon each other, each with their own areas of strength.

The more information you can give me in this section the better I can get to know you and the better teacher I can be so fill it out as accurately as possible please. I will be keeping all of them until the end of the semester after which they will be returned. I will fill one out as well and it will be posted in the class for the duration of the semester.

Why am I taking Drafting? What are my motivations etc.? Why am I interested in Drafting?

What do I want to learn this semester? What skills that I could possibly learn are most important to me?

What qualities are most important to me in my teacher?

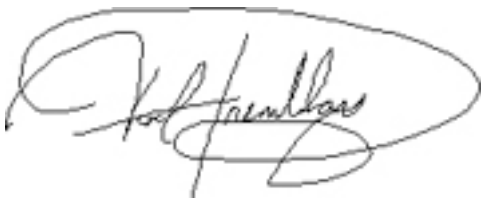

What is most important to me as a student?

What qualities do I think constitute a healthy teacher/student relationship?

Dear Parents,

My name is Joel Tremblay and I will be working with your children in the Drafting 10/12 class. I believe in full accountability and a consistent and comprehensive dialogue between parents, teachers and students. As such, I will be posting ALL assignments on my webpage, <http://www.joeltremblay.com>. If you have any questions about the content/structure of this class, please feel free to contact me at joel_tremblay@sd63.bc.ca or mail@joeltremblay.com, the link of which is on my website. Please talk with your son/daughter about their responses and/or any concerns/questions you might have about the class. Thank you for time.

Sincerely

Joel Tremblay
